The dinner plate inspired by the life of marker woman Doña Teresa de Aguilera y Roche who in 1658 came to Santa Fe, New Mexico with her husband who had been appointed the governor of the Spanish colony of New Mexico, a territory that covered much of modern-day New Mexico and Arizona. He served as governor until August 1662, when he and Teresa were arrested by officers of the Holy Office of the Inquisition and sent to Mexico City. Come to the Fiesta de Cena to learn more about Doña Teresa and the other marker women who will be featured.
